It looks from the volume of our mail sent under government frank, that about 900 agencies of the government—each with high salaried personnel—are engaged in flooding newspaper offices with prepared publicity material, all of which is expected to be printed without charge.

According to the President, the government is spending 100 million dollars every minute, or maybe it is a couple of billion, for every conceivable kind of service, yet we have yet to receive the first penny for newspaper service.

If we were to use all of the material sent in by government agencies, we would not have room for a single line of local news or a single inch of paid advertisement.

However the paper sent in by the government agencies is not a total loss, for we turn the sheets over and write our stuff on the other side.

The government agencies, the state agencies and the candidates for U. S. Senate must think that newspapers can live on air.

Brother L. P. Mistrot came in promptly and renewed. That's the kind of subscriber we like. We did not have to dun him, threaten him or sue him. Atop that he offered to pay us $2.50, fifty cents more than we charge local subscribers.

It sort of looks strange not seeing old Tony across the street cooling off in his rocking chair.

Eli Whitaker is getting as bald as a peeled onion.

The petite Mrs. Chas. Kosman came in and renewed recently.

We most earnestly urge that citizens who wish to vote will go to the Circuit Clerk's office AT ONCE and register on the NEW books. Your "old" registration will not count any more.

See that your soldier son, husband, or sweetheart gets the proper papers at the Circuit Clerk's office so that he, too, may register and vote FREE.

One fellow reported that he thought he saw a twilight sister but he was not sure. She might have been a lady of the evening. Anyway she was walking down the primrose path.

The old lady and I have been married 24 years as of the 9th. I would not swap her off for one thirty years younger.

Brother Lee Spain visited over on Green Street one day this week.

Unless you bring or send in some job work, Greenfield and Horn face a week-end of idleness and sin.

We do not believe that Cousin Ira is making a crop this year. Nobody could make a crop and stay in town as much as he does.

It looks like Judge Allen is not going to have any opposition. So far as Grenada County is concerned, he might as well have none.

You can draw your own conclusions as to whether Congressmen have been derelict in their duties when you review the tragic fates of Guam, Honolulu, Manila, Corregidor and other possessions where the soldiers of the richest nation on earth were defeated because of improper food, ammunition and medicine. If Congress (which the President repeatedly warned) is not to blame, in God's name WHO IS?

When it comes to fiddling, frolicking and fooling, poor old Nero was a piker compared to our indifferent and ignorant Congressmen.

With proper cooperation, we believe that Proby is going to make good as Grenada's mayor. Proby is going to be the mayor and nobody can make him do something that he does not want to do.

Robert Lidell, a substantial colored man who lives on Route 1 out of Carrollton, has been added to our list. One by one we are getting the substantial colored people on our mailing list.

Aint they sweet.

Vassar Dubard, Jr., one of Uncle Sam's men, spent a few days at home recently, after which his parents carried him in their car to Jackson from which point he left for Annapolis, where he will receive instructions looking to acquiring a commission.

Mrs. William C. (nee Lena Weir) Williams was drowned on Saturday, May 9, 1942, when the car which she was driving across a flat bridge near Meyersville, Issaquena County, slipped into the bayou, imprisoning the victim in the half-submerged car.

She was the daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. T. F. Weir, and was born and reared at the Weir old home six miles east of Grenada near Weir Springs. She was 48 years of age. She was educated in the home by the governess. From early girlhood she was a member of the Episcopal Church, as were all her people. In 1910 she and W. C. (Will) Williams of Grenada were married. At the time of her untimely death the family was living on her plantation in Issaquena County.

Red Cross Disaster Report

Miss Jane Perry, Area Director for National Red Cross, has completed her duties here and left Grenada Wednesday of this week. Miss Perry and her staff which included several members of the National Red Cross staff, attempted the job of rehabilitating those left injured, homeless and in some instances, destitute by the tornado. Working with Miss Perry were, Miss Helen Wamsly, of National staff, Miss Elizabeth Buchanan, Area nursing supervisor, Miss Ford, nurse for Grenada county, and Mr. J. W. Guy, building supervisor for eight counties, including Grenada.

Miss Perry makes the following statement concerning the work here and eastern Tallahatchie county (Casilla neighborhood). There were 82 cases registered, and of these 63 were given assistance at a total cost to the National Red Cross of $11,200.00. This includes building, repair work, medical attention, household goods, food, and clothing. All cases being complete except some of building and some of the injured have not recovered.

Miss Perry asked that we express her gratitude to the citizens of Grenada for their cooperation, especially the local chapter.

The Eastern part of Tallahatchie county, near the Casilla neighborhood, 27 cases were reported, and 23 were given rehabilitation there amounting to $5,500.00.

U. S. O. FUND APPEAL

The local committee will appreciate donations to the USO fund from the men and women employed at the army camp. ## L. C. PROBY SWORN IN AS GRENADA'S NEW MAYOR

NEW MAYOR

Hon. L. C. Proby

By almost a plurality, as shown by the official count, Mr. L. C. Proby, former Mayor, was sworn in on Monday night, May 14, 1942 to complete the unexpired term of Mr. Robert W. Sharp, deceased.

W. W. J. W. Total

E. A. Pennington 12 57 69

Juel R. Batson 85 124 200

J. B. Horn 47 46 93

L. C. Proby 169 139 308

Mr. L. J. Park, who had served as an appointee of the City Council from the death of Mr. Sharp about a month ago, "swore in" his successor.

Proby resumed his duties after six years' absence, not unlike a mayor who had just returned from a private interview in the rear office, or like a mule whose harness was taken off late Monday night and replaced early Tuesday morning. Upon reassuming his interrupted duties, Mr. Proby spoke very graciously to the council members and the assembled citizens, soliciting their cooperation and promising his own, while Hon. Cowles Horton, attorney for the council, served as a sort of a welcoming committee with his well-chosen words of welcome.

Among the things done were the confirmation of a previous agreement that members of the police force shall wear uniforms; the re-enlistment at a $15.00 premium of $8,000,000 and unusable aircraft issues; the raising of the salary of A. L. Baumheinrich, City Fire Chief, from $150 to $225 per month; and the outlawing of so-called pinball machines, the latter action requiring the negative vote of the Mayor.

W. W. Whitaker, Editor.

MERCHANTS FROM EIGHT COUNTIES MEET WITH C. OF C.

About 200 merchants from Grenada and seven nearby counties met at the Barwin Hotel, as guests of the Grenada County Chamber of Commerce, Tuesday night to receive more information concerning the "price ceilings" recently promulgated by the Federal Price Administrator, from the lips of Mr. E. L. Morrow, Manager of the C. of C., who, with Messrs. R. Semmes and R. C. Trusty, attended a State meeting last Friday in Jackson.

A long list of articles, primarily essential articles of food and clothing, was prepared in Washington. Not one of these articles can be sold at retail (or wholesale) for a greater price than the maximum price received for the same article in March, 1942. The reader should not jump to the conclusion that this list contains ALL articles, for it does not. Many of the thousands of articles used are not affected whatever. There are numerous regulations—too complex and too voluminous to repeat here—which are parts of the initial ruling of the Price Administrator. These rules and exceptions were subjects which Mr. Morrow sought to explain to the assembled business men. It is quite obvious that even these primary rules will be changed and modified as conditions warrant. Therefore, it behoves the merchants—who will be policed by the buying public—to keep posted. One merchant from South Mississippi (and this small fellow is typical of many of our small merchants in this territory) stated at the Jackson meeting that "I do not keep many records." He was told, "Brother, you are going to keep some records from now on or else..."

Counties represented at the meeting at the Barwin were Montgomery, Carroll, Tallahatchie, Yalobusha, Lafayette, Calhoun and Grenada.

More Cotton Will Be Needed

(Mrs. W. W. W.)

The War Production Board took the first steps towards eventual forced conversion of about 88 percent of the cotton textile industry to war or essential civilian production.

Textile experts said they expected the conversion to be a boon to cotton farmers, in the form of increased consumption of raw cotton and the expansion of the use of part waste and lower grade cotton. The boon must mean higher prices per pound, as we are still planting too little cotton in this country. Cotton mills have up to 90 days to make the "change-over" necessary to compensate for losses of burlap supplies, formerly imported from India and the steadily increasing military and farm demands for bagging.

Since more cotton is to be used by the War Board, why can't we grow more cotton this year? We need a reserve of all kinds of raw material and now is the accepted time for planting cotton for surplus reserve. It is an acknowledged fact that cotton grown in the thirteen Southern States of North America, is the strongest, also the finest cotton on earth. Since cotton has been vastly improved by experts in our experimental stations, we have an especially strong cotton fiber with large plump seeds, and that combination is more valuable than gold.

We seem to ramble on in our thoughts about cotton and our ability to grow the best cotton on earth and are therefore somewhat puzzled over the advice given the government at Washington by Mr. Oscar Johnson, cotton expert, to buy cotton from South America. This is true that our South American friends were upset over the failure by our country to buy their banana crop, and Mr. Johnson's suggestion concerning buying cotton from them was evidently made to appease our friends there. The thought occurs that if we had always maintained proper business dealings with our neighbors, we wouldn't have to keep our neighbors good will bought.

The cotton grown in South America will not be any easier to ship to us the coming year than the banana crop this Spring. It is only natural to suppose that our vessels will be busy elsewhere. Very likely the ships will be needed to take food and ammunition and medicine to our men in the war zone, not only for the men of North America, but for the men of South America who will also be fighting by our side this year. Do you suppose, under these conditions, that the boats would carry cotton or these supplies? The whole contention is this: we may be caught short on cotton this year or early next year by observing the limited acreage allotment. If this does occur, it will be due to the stupidity of our congressmen from the South. Cotton is needed to take the place of hemp bagging material usually shipped to the United States from India, and it's a cinch we will get very little hemp or jute from India the next twelve months. Right now our cotton seed is needed for its by-products of cooking fat, oils, butter substitutes, stock feed and manufacturing needs; and in so doing, to relieve the strain on higher priced by-products of petroleum. Think of the uses of cotton in our grades: the equipment of camps, hospitals and in munition factories. Considering these imperative needs, does it not seem ill-advised to restrict cotton acreage in our own country and depend on South America for our extra needs this year. Cotton planted in May will mature in September and plans for marketing the surplus could be ready to function so as to relieve any congested condition. We are fighting this war by production as well as with bullets and bombs.

Police Judge For Grenada

Apparently there has been a most favorable reaction to the suggestion that the Mayor be relieved of the duty of trying bootlegging, cutting and gambling cases, and that these cases be tried by a Police Judge whom the City Council can appoint at any time.

The Mayor of the City of Grenada of the immediate future will have his hands filled with more important duties than of trying misdemeanor cases. Intricate problems of smoothing out difficulties between the civil and military authorities; getting the best possible deal with the War Department in dividing the expenses of necessary additions to Grenada's water, sewer, police and sanitary facilities; and tackling the many other major problems that are sure to arise in the expanding Grenada.

We believe that the vast majority of the people of Grenada are heartily in favor of paying the Mayor a suitable salary, relieving him of the duties of justice of the peace, and paying the police judge a just salary, and the return of the "costs" to the City Treasury.

"Across The Border"

Twenty years ago the City of Grenada virtually ended at Hoffa Ditch. Since that time the area south of the ditch, or, as we more euphoniously call it, "South of the Border," has become very thickly populated; as candidates who receive the majority of the votes of that area can testify.

We are firmly convinced that a new fire station should be built "Across the Border." We have the SAME fire fighting equipment that we had when Grenada ended at Hoffa Ditch. Suppose we had TWO fires AT ONCE!! That certainly is easily possible, and quite probable.

We are beginning to believe that, should additions to our school plant be necessary, a primary and grammar school should be built "Across the Border," to accommodate the host of little kids who live in that section. The river bars Grenada's growth to the north; the lowlands of Boggs bar Grenada's growth to the East; the towering hills owned by Cousin Will Hoffa bar Grenada's growth to the West; hence there is but one way to expand—that is, southward.

Grenada's no longer a community bounded on the north by the Peavine railroad, on the east by the I. C. Railroad, on the west by Sand Street and on the south by Hoffa Ditch. Grenada is literally bursting at its seams. Let our city planners take cognizance of this truism whenever they make extensions!!

Stay Close To The Trunk Of The Tree

On authority that we deem accurate, we understand that the Flora Ordinance plant has been finished, but it has been closed and that no operations will start soon; that it was merely a "stand by" plant for Uncle Sam. If that is true, and if it is true that about 100 knocked-down houses have not been assembled, the people of that community may have a plant, BUT NO PAYROLL.

Grenada, then, may well reconcile itself to the possibility that, while we will have an army camp—whose buildings are yawning for thousands of soldiers—there may never be any soldiers here.

Grenada, then, may reconcile itself to the possibility that, while we have financed the building of a shell finishing plant, there may never be a shell finished here.

Stay close to the bole of the tree. Do not get too far out on a limb.

Me and the U. S. A.

Next to the General at Honolulu, General Public is the most apathetic of them all.

Aint they sweet.

UNDER THE MAGNOLIA TREE

By Herbert B. Allen

Blues In The Night

While sitting in my favorite chair recently, listening to Guy Lombardo's fine music, I dozed off to sleep, and had a most unusual dream concerning the political record of United States Senator Wall Doxey of Washington, one-time resident of Mississippi.

In my dream, Wall and I were gazing at a richly ornamented scroll upon which was beautifully inscribed the record of the Senator's accomplishments in Congress. It was no ordinary record, for the events in his Congressional career appeared to have been recorded in invisible ink. We both scrutinized the invisible record in silent embarrassment.

Wall's invisible record in Congress is not very interesting, but it should be very enlightening to the people of Mississippi. Wall may not be very proud of the record; and the people of this state certainly have no reason to be proud of it. The Magnolia State is represented by two of the least capable members in the United States Senate: a mighty poor advertisement for Mississippi, to say the least.

My investigation into his record in the House of Representatives failed to reveal any justification for promoting him to the Senate. His record was extraordinary in that he had done so little in so long a time. What he had done was strikingly conspicuous by its absence!

Consequently, although I was anxious to support a North Mississippi candidate for the Senate, I passed over Wall's candidacy in polite silence. I could neither condemn or commend him.

Politically, he was in neutral gear, and he evidently intended to remain safely, and permanently, in neutral. There are stirring times, in which red-blooded statesmen of ability and conviction are urgently needed in the Senate; and shadows of Senators cannot take the place of real Senators. The shadow Senators merely weaken the national government, and place an undue strain upon the able men who are elected by other states.

The one thing that commanded Wall to my attention was the fact that he lived a long way from Poplarville; for Holly Springs is about as far removed from the home of the "Promising Prophet" as a Mississippi community can be located. Even this slight advantage was nullified when Wall accepted, with eloquent silence, and a very red neck, the embarrassing stigma of what a man Billie's endorsement.

Probably Senator Doxey could write his record on the reverse side of one of those colored postal cards of the Washington monument, and still have ample space to write: "Having a wonderful time. Come up and see me some time."

Not that I blame Wall for wishing to stay in Washington the rest of his natural life. His desire is perfectly understandable. I have seen Holly Springs, and I have seen Washington. Let Grant take Holly Springs; I'll take Washington.

Naturally, there are also handicaps to living in Washington. The quality of liquor that a dry Senator is expected to dispense is expensive; and rents in Washington are nearly as high as rents in Grenada!

Merely because I report that Wall does not transact much PUBLIC business, please do not get the impression that Wall does not possess ability. When it comes to his PRIVATE business, Wall is a smart fellow, very much in the Billie class. He may not know his country, very well; but he does know his dollars.

Legislation is also right down Wall's alley. You will recall that he is an attorney, having graduated from the law school at "Ole Miss," which should not be held against that fine old institution. While Wall is not exactly a John Marshall, an Oliver Wendell Holmes, or a Charles Evans Hughes, nevertheless, as Senator, he has a keenly discerning eye for a fine piece of legislation.

Take that PENSION Bill for instance. That was the finest thing in the shape of legislation that Wall had seen introduced in Congress since Washington crossed the Delaware. When the Senate page boy slipped a copy of the PENSION Bill on Wall's desk, the Senator grinned broadly, tipped him a dollar, and remarked genially: "Boy, you got something there."

The generosity of the BONUS Bill touched Wall's heart as nothing had touched it since he reluctantly ceased to hang up his stocking on Christmas Eve, although Wall never really surrendered his touching belief in Santa Claus.

The provisions of the PENSION Bill for underprivileged United States Senators certainly struck a responsive chord in Wall's heart, and it began to look as though his life-long unwavering faith in Santa Claus was to be vindicated after all those years!

Being a man of vision, as well as a man of action, Wall saw great possibilities in the BONUS Bill. His discriminating legal mind, his keen professional preception, quickly visualized the full scope of the benefits to be conferred on humble Senators by this charitable Bill. Here was "Paradise In Our Time" with a vengeance!

By a remarkable coincidence, clever lawyers often are afflicted with exactly the same failings as clever rascals. In their over-zealous efforts to drain the last drops, they sometimes overlook a fly in the ointment.

In the celebrated case of "Doxey vs. the People," the fly in the ointment, when brought into clear focus, turned out to be the forgotten voters of the forgotten State of Mississippi. This type of fly is particularly annoying, because it is not so easily brushed off by even the most deft Senatorial hand.

When the news of the BONUS Bill for underprivileged

Senators reached the voters of Mississippi eventually, these dumb voters became very much excited. You know how the folks back home are. Some of them are dumb; and some are dumber! The latter group are so dumb that they actually pay a poll-tax for the dubious privilege of voting boys like Wall into the United States Senate.

Not only have they voted plenty of boys like Wall into important public offices, but there is more truth than poetry in the lines of a patriotic song, now popular, which declares: "We've done it before, and we'll do it again!"

The dumb voters back home could not understand the logic of a four thousand dollar lawyer receiving a PENSION for collecting a ten thousand dollar salary.

The folks back home also have no heart. A man lives off the government all his life, faithfully and uncomplainingly. And then the voters object to him receiving a PENSION to console him for the misery of being separated from the public treasury. That's gratitude for you!

Clever old Will Shakespeare wrote, several years ago: "What fools these mortals be!" He certainly recognized the universal truth. Applying Shakespeare's wisdom to the celebrated case of "Doxey vs. the People," all that remains to be seen is whether the joke was on Senator Doxey, or on the People of the State of Mississippi.

From UNDER THE MAGNOLIA TREE it looks to be just too bad for the white haired boy of Holly Springs. His political pallbearers are stomping around impatiently, awaiting the elections. I can hear them now, mournfully whistling the "BLUES IN THE NIGHT."

BRIDAL SHOWER FOR MRS. R. J. TURNBO

In the home of Mrs. Sue Jordan and Mrs. Ernest Barnett, of Tie Plant, with Mrs. J. W. Schultz and Mrs. A. M. Hartsell assisting, a lovely shower was given in honor of the recent bride, Mrs. R. J. Turnbo, who before her marriage was Miss Louise Moore.

As the charming and thrilled little bride entered the beautifully decorated room she was ushered to the pretty white chair that was so beautifully decorated with red roses and a canopy of lace. On each side of the bride were three newly-weds of the past few months. These happy new brides sat in front of about 45 of their friends.

A welcome to the newly-weds and good advice was given the newly-weds by Miss Dot Fisher.

Soon the rice began to shower.

A game of "Introduction" was entered into by all, which lasted throughout the party. Mrs. Barnett introduced the guests and extended the recent bride the privilege of doing just as she pleased during the game. Mrs. J. W. Schultz acted as secretary to all the group.

The hidden treasure was found by three of the newly-weds, which proved to be a "Defense Book" with stamp in it, this happened to be found by the bride. The other two found the horse shoe and a small Bible. Mrs. Estes found the very important sack of money hidden for the older married ladies.

Some other interesting games were entered into and enjoyed by the group.

Mrs. Hartsell and Miss Peggy Schultz brought the lovely gifts and placed them in front of the happy little bride and all enjoyed seeing the lovely presents.

Soon the pretty white wedding cake was cut by the bride and all enjoyed Coca-Cola and Angie food cake.—Contributed

TURNBO-MOORE

Mr. and Mrs. L. M. Moore, of Tie Plant, announce the marriage of their daughter, Mary Louise, to Ralph Johns Turnbo, of Grenada.

The wedding was solemnized Saturday at the home of Rev. E. R. Henderson, in Grenada.

Immediately after the ceremony they left for Memphis, for a short honeymoon.

The bride is a graduate of Grenada High School and is employed by Ross and Co., at Tie Plant. The groom is a graduate of Gore Springs High School and is employed by Hable Construction Co., at Grenada.

PARTY FOR MRS. R. J. TURNBO

Mrs. Myrtle Thomas entertained for the recent bride, Mrs. R. J. Turnbo, in her lovely home at Tie Plant.

The beautiful flowers in the home added so much to the happiness of the charming little bride and the other guests.

The lovely gifts were opened and all enjoyed looking at the beautiful presents.

The beautiful wedding cake decorated so beautifully with bride and groom and the wedding bells, also filled with fortunes for many was cut by the bride.

Delicious ice cream and cake was enjoyed by all.—Contributed.

Mrs. Thomas J. Brown

Friends of her youthful years deeply deplore the death of Mrs. Thomas J. Brown, which occurred at her home in Grenada, Friday, April 24, 1942, at 7:30 o'clock, following a paralytic stroke suffered four hours previously.

In her usual good health, she had visited friends just the day before, her sudden going was a terrible shock to the family, but came as she had often prayed that it would, calmly and peacefully.

"Jimm" as she was universally known was the daughter of Dr. F. P. and Mrs. Marianna Ferrell Bibby, the third of the quartette of beautiful girls of that family, acknowledged belles of Pontotoc and well did they deserve that distinction by right of charm and accomplishment, their sweet, musical voices being the varied attraction, as is clearly remembered today by their associates of the "Sweet Long Ago," which, by the way, was one of their favorite songs.

While she had attained three score and seven years, she little appeared or seemed that advanced in age. Time had, indeed, been kind, and touched her with a gentle hand, leaving her mentally and physically young, remaining alert, bright, entertaining and lovely in manner and appearance. Such was our impression when we last saw her—in January, 1941.

Receiving her education in Pontotoc, she graduated with honor at Chickasaw College, under Prof. W. V. Frieson, a credit to that high class institution of learning, well fitted to take her place in the world in circles befitting womanhood.

Her father, Dr. Francis P. Bibby, an outstanding physician and surgeon in Pontotoc for a protracted period, having an extensive practice in town and county, was earnestly solicited to locate in Caffeeville, offering every inducement possible. After due deliberation, he decided to make the change to the exceeding regret of their legion of acquaintances and patrons.

The family was soon established in their new home, and were welcome additions to that locality, at once becoming factors in church, civic, educational and social circles, as was expected since the "Bibbys" were always known to have a way of winning the friendship of all associates with whom they were thrown.

In the course of a few years, our beloved friend, Jim, met Dr. T. J. Brown, a rising young physician, with prospects of rare achievements, which promise was fully realized. Winning her affections, they were united in marriage, establishing a home in Grenada, where they continued to live most happily until his passing in 1938.

Three daughters blessed their union, each developing into splendid womanhood, worthy of their parentage. Miss Marybel Brown, Mrs. Frank Hays and Mrs. G. S. Kent, of Grenada. Besides these, she leaves three grandchildren, two sisters, Mrs. J. L. Collins and Mrs. P. M. Woodall, of Caffeeville, and several nieces and nephews to mourn her passing, but sacredly cherishing sweet memories of their beloved one while life remains to them.

Religiously trained, she attended Sunday school and divine services regularly, from childhood to maturity regarding the observance as a privilege from which she found enjoyment, comparable to nothing else, following by precept and example the teachings of the Holy Bible.

Accepting Christ as her Savior, she joined the Methodist church in her youth, and to the end of her earthly journey was a devout, consecrated member, loyal to its every interest. Indeed, the Christian experience was inspiring as she lived practicing and loving unfalteringly day by day, throughout the long vista of years that were hers, strong and trustful in His promises, never doubting their fulfillment.

Today her work finished, she rests beside her husband in the beautiful cemetery at Grenada, her spirit mingling with loved ones who preceded her to the Better World, a land that is fairer than day, where all is joy and peace.

—A Classmate of the Baptist and Chickasaw Colleges, Pontotoc.

Radio Bilbo (Doxey) Wells, astute political observer, and the radio fixer who has remained longest in Grenada, was proudly exhibiting a handsome autographed photograph (beautifully framed) of Junior United States Senator Wall Doxey. The bond of friendship between those two gentlemen is very close. Their minds seem to run in the same channel.

It is certainly sweet—this united front of similar tastes, similar habits and similar outlooks upon life.

McKell could hardly look after his Ferdinand business the other night, so busily was he telling the new joke he picked up in Jackson.

Since our policemen are now in uniform, we think that the police car should be in uniform too, that is have "POLICE CAR" or "BLACK MARIA" painted boldly on each side and back.

Welcome to Master Sgt. Jack Vance, who came by before he left and subscribed for the GCW.

Pete LaGrone from the swamp was a tea guest at William Wright's party Monday night.

It looks like, temporarily at least, they have put hobbles on those galloping dominoes, and have disarmed the one-armed bandits.

It will shortly be Lt. Jr. Grade J. L. Wiggins of the U. S. N. Congratulations to this former power trust official.

We note that Jackson has finally recognized that going to a movie on Sunday is but a minor felony after all. We have been having movies here in Grenada at hours which do not conflict with church services for many months, and nobody has been harmed.

I expect this is a little stale but it is the first I knew of it, things moving so fast: Charles Williams and family have moved to Jackson.

The curfew shall not ring tonight. The pin balls shall not roll in Grenada, so saith the City Council.

Horn and Greenfield are facing a week-end of idleness and sin unless some job work comes into the office. Help save sinners to salvation.

Brother Robinson is going to try to run the devil out of Holcomb shortly. If he runs him out, he will soon return.

Lee Taylor says that, now since he has retired, he never has any time to do anything.

I believe Roll-em Wall has cut me off his mailing list, Jimmie, or has he given out of ammunition?

Aint they sweet.

Everyone was glad to see Claud Perry able to attend the Council meeting Monday night.

Nobody can say that Roy Doak did not make a good mayor. He was not in office long enough to accumulate many enemies.

Please tell or phone us when the soldier boy comes home. We mention everyone of them that we know of.

Look at your expiration date opposite your name. It tells its own tale.

We came very nearly forgetting J. B. Boiling, now of Ackerman, once of Grenada, who contributed to our financial welfare recently. He is as full of bulk as ever, if not fuller.

This price-freezing business is no joke. Uncle Sam is in dead earnest when he says that the costs of necessities of life shall be fixed as of March, 1942. You had better save that circular the C. of C. got out Monday.

RESPONSE TO LETTER WRITTEN BY A GRENADA LADY

In response to a letter written by a Grenada lady, to the mother of a soldier, the following letter is of interest, written by a lady who was rearmed in Poland, it contains food for thought:

Dear Friend:

It gives me much pleasure as to the welcome attitude to have toward my son Jessie. He has always been a very good and industrious son. I have two sons at present in the army fighting for our Nation and that to aid our flag to still wave high and free. Albert my other son is in Trinidad, but have not received any word from him for some time. I am feeling better and hope it continues, to welcome my two sons home again. I have offered my blood transfusions for our Country's aid. I hope my sons and other mothers' sons good luck and success for their effort for our good old America and our stars and stripes may always wave high in Honor. I appreciate your welcome and surprising letter and will be only too glad to forward any word I receive from Jessie. I thank you sincerely for your interest in behalf of my son and his mother. I repeat I thank you. If at any time to receive any word from you.

Sincerely yours,

Mrs. Mary Mallnowski,

Wilmington, Dela.

A MESSAGE FROM THE SECRETARY OF THE TREASURY

THE SECRETARY OF THE TREASURY
WASHINGTON

May 1, 1942

TO THE PEOPLE OF MISSISSIPPI:
This week a new campaign for the sale of War Bonds and Savings Stamps is under way throughout the Nation. It is the War Bond Quota Campaign.

It is urgently necessary that you double the rate at which you are now buying War Bonds and Stamps. This will mean the sale direct to individual Americans of War Bonds and Stamps to the amount of not less than one billion dollars every month.

One billion dollars a month is the National quota. It is equal to one-tenth the combined incomes of all Americans.

This money is needed to buy the tools of war for your fighting forces. It will not pay for all of them. Our war expenditures are at the present about FOUR BILLIONS a month, and they are growing daily. But one billion dollars a month direct from the people will make all-out production possible. Without it we cannot do our best; without it we cannot put forth our full effort.

It is desperately needed for another reason. We can't fight a war and at the same time live and spend as usual. There are not enough goods to go around — the things we buy with money. If we go on spending at the 1941 scale, we'll be robbing the fighting man to add to our own comfort or pleasure. We'll be driving up the cost of living for all of us. We'll be imposing dire hardships on our neighbors.

What is asked of you is ten per cent of your earnings — a tithe for Liberty. It is not a tax; it is not even a contribution; it is a loan at interest, for your use and protection later.

Your Government asks you to cut down your expenditures, to SAVE — your boys on the firing line and in the training centers. Through your Government, ask you to save so that they may have what they need to WIN YOUR WAR for you — America asks you to save; to SAVE TO WIN THE WAR; to buy War Bonds and Stamps up to not less than ten per cent of your income.

Is Liberty worth it? Is Democracy worth it? Is America worth it? I think I know your answer.

Sincerely,

Morganthau

The above letter was sent to this newspaper by Secretary Morganthau in Washington. We publish it in the interest of the War Bond Quota Campaign and earnestly recommend that all our readers do their share in the tremendous job ahead of financing the War effort.

R. O. T. C. Unit Of Miss. State To Receive Trophy

Members of the rifle team of the R. O. T. C. unit at Mississippi State College will be presented with the William Randolph Hearst corps area trophy, as well as individual medals, in a colorful ceremony at College Station, Thursday, May 1. World War No. 1 Captain John G. Little, of Chicago, will make the presentation in behalf of Mr. Hearst.

This national rifle competition, inaugurated 21 years ago for the purpose of co-operating with the United States War Department, schools and universities in helping build and stimulate interest in military preparedness among R. O. T. C. units in educational institutions, has developed into one of the greatest adjuncts of the national military establishment. Today the trophies are the most highly coveted prizes of college and school marksmen, and this year, 119 plaques and 400 medals are being distributed among the 335 competing units, in nine states from the Atlantic to the Pacific.

The records are a part of the War Department's official reports on national preparedness and rifle efficiency.

In selecting Captain Little to make the presentations in the mid-south, Mr. Hearst took into consideration the war record and general background of the popular officer. Captain Little is a grandson of the famed newspaper man, C. F. Toof, publisher of the Memphis Appeal during the war between the states. Refusing to suspend publication when the city fell to the invaders, Mr. Toof packed his press, type, paper and staff onto wagons, resumed publication in Grenada, Miss., then in Vicksburg, Jackson, Montgomery and way stations never missing an edition and becoming a thorn in the side of the invaders.

Back in Memphis, he continued publication after the war, and later established the lithographing firm which still bears his name. Captain Little, in the World War, enlisted as a private, served in France and returned as a Captain of Infantry.

The ceremony at State College May 21 will be the faculty and many distinguished guest.

Lost and Found

By JANE OSBORN
(McClure Syndicate—WNU Service.)

AS Maud and her Aunt Margaret neared New York in the privacy of their stateroom, the fifty-year-old woman thought it desirable to give the woman half her age a little sound advice.

"If you ever find yourself alone and in need of help don't ask help of a woman," was what she said, and added, "and especially if it is a motherly looking woman. If you don't see a policeman ask the nice looking young man you see, because it would never occur to the gangs that a girl wanting help would ask a nice looking young man."

By this time the train was drawing into the terminal station.

"Gracious me," said Aunt Margaret when their porter had reached the taxi stand. "What was the name of that hotel Cousin Helen said we had better go to? I had it written down in the front of my address book and that's packed somewhere in my dressing case."

"Take us to some really first-class hotel in a central district," suggested Maud. Minutes later they drew up at a good looking hotel.

Later that day Maud sent a telegram to the folks at home giving them the name of the hotel. She and her aunt spent two hours over lunch and then while debating whether to start in on their shopping expeditions that afternoon or not, Maud saw a girl she had known three years before in boarding school in the wake of her portly parents—the Dawkins family. There were introductions all round, and general rejoicing that here among strangers so far from home, friends had been found.

The next afternoon Maud decided not to go shopping with her aunt because she was anxious to look up a certain girl's finishing school where a friend of hers was staying. It was not until she had got into a taxi for the return that it occurred to her that she didn't know the name of her hotel—and hadn't any sort of conceivable idea where it was located.

So she got out of the taxi at the Public Library and sat on a stone bench there trying to think of some way of finding her way back to the hotel. Then she recalled her aunt's advice. She let a hundred or so strangers pass, and then a very well-dressed, decidedly attractive looking young man came briskly toward the library. Maud stopped him, told him her plight, and begged his help.

Together they went through the pages of a telephone book in a drug-store, but Maud found nothing to help her. So the nice young man suggested that they walk to a few nearby hotels, then take a taxi to the others. At least Maud would know her hotel when she saw it.

They walked past two or three that Maud knew were not her own. Then, walking down toward the avenue to hail a taxi, Maud gave a little cry of surprise. She had seen her aunt. Quickly explaining, she said good-bye to the young man. But in a few seconds she was back. "It's my aunt," said Maud, "but she is lost, too."

So the good-looking stranger found himself escorting two lost women instead of one.

"I did know the name of the hotel once," said Aunt Margaret, "because Maud found out and used it on the telegram. I suppose we could telegraph home and ask where it is."

The strange young man said he didn't think it would be necessary to telegraph—they'd be able to find the hotel without that.

"Let's drop in here—a hotel just down this street. I had in a way promised to join an aunt of mine there—and we can have tea together, if you will permit me to order it for you, and I can just explain to my aunt and perhaps there we could telephone to the hotels and find out where you are registered."

He led them down the street, turned sharply in with one lady on either side and then Aunt Margaret and Maud exclaimed in chorus, "Why, this is our hotel!"

Aunt Margaret hurried forward toward the door—and Maud lingered by the young man's side. "I'm sorry we found it so soon," she said. "I had really looked forward to having tea together." Which was precisely what the young man was going to say if she had given him a chance.

"Let's have tea together anyway," he said.

Aunt Margaret went to her room explaining that she wanted to put on comfortable shoes and that she'd send down for tea. Maud and the young man went into the tea room where to Maud's surprise the strange young man led her forward to a table where sat the Dawkins family. He kissed mother and daughter, and shook hands with Mr. Dawkins.

"Hazel told me she was engaged," said Maud. "You must be the—the lucky man."

"Hardly. She's engaged to a friend of mine, though. I'm a second cousin or something—and besides I shouldn't consider myself particularly lucky."

"Why not?"

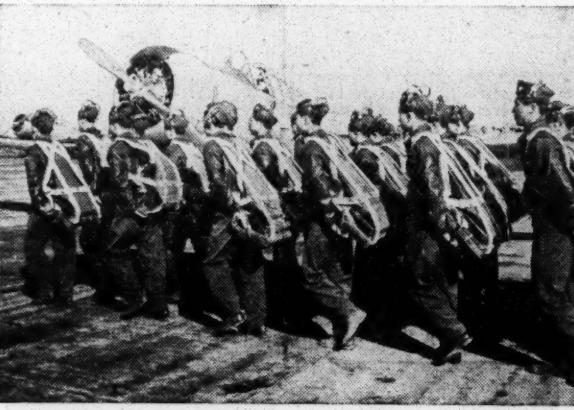

"Because I've fallen in love with another girl, and it would be rather awkward if I were already engaged," he answered.

Chinese Train Here to Crack Japs

Chinese air students are now given the same flight training that is given to American aviation cadets at Phoenix, Ariz. The only phase of training which differs from the 35-week American course is the instruction in military drill. Upon completion of their course, the fliers will be commissioned as lieutenants in the Chinese air forces and assigned to service in the Far East. Special Chinese officers have been assigned to accompany the students.

In photo at top a group of Chinese cadets are singing the Chinese national anthem which is being recorded so it may be played in China. In the center of the group is Major C. J. Kanaga, U. S. A., and Capt. Tseng Ching Lan. In the bottom picture the Chinese cadets are flying in formation.

Chinese cadets wearing full equipment march to their training planes.

This Chinese cadet, Chou Li, lathers his face as he prepares to shave. Chan Ya Kanz is shown in the link trainer. He has an exceptional aptitude for flying.

CHOW . . . a la mode. These good-looking Chinese cadets take time out for a little gathering at the festive board with wives and sweethearts. (U. S. Army Signal Corps photos).

MONDAY: THE DAY OF AUTHORITY

LESSON TEXT—Matthew 21:12-22.
GOLDEN TEXT—My house shall be called a house of prayer for all peoples.—Isaiah 56:7.

Modern presentations of Christ in picture and sermon often give the impression that He was an effeminate man who went about doing gentle little deeds of kindness. One almost feels that He spoke in a half whisper and that He fearfully avoided the difficulties and dangers of life.

Such a picture of Christ, whether in words or on canvas, was never obtained from the Bible. Yes, He was gentle and kind; He did go about doing good; He was altogether humble—but why give the false impression that gentleness means weakness, kindness means a sentimental softness, etc. These are the virtues of a strong man and such was our Christ. He was a manly man who so excited the admiration of the boys in the temple that they shouted a holy "Hurrah" (Hosanna—in Hebrew).

On Monday as our Lord came into the city He saw and dealt with the fruitless fig tree and later in the day He cleansed the temple. This seems to be the order of the events (see Mark 11) and we will so consider them.

I. Jesus Stimulates Faith by an Act of Judgment (vv. 18-22).

In the morning as Jesus returned to Jerusalem, He was hungry. He had probably spent the night in prayer after His time of fellowship with the disciples (Mark 11:11). It was early spring, and normally not the time for figs to be ready to eat, but He saw a tree which already had foliage on it. Since the leaves form after the fruit, He properly looked for figs—green, perhaps, but even so useable for food—and there were none.

In a swift miracle of judgment, He condemned the tree, which soon withered. Some have assumed that He acted in anger, but that is evidently not so. His act was a sign to Israel and to us. The fig tree was a figure of Israel (see Hosea 9:10, Joel 1:7, Luke 13:6-9). They as a nation had the outward signs of fruit, that is, the "leaves" of temple worship, teaching of the law, etc., but there was no fruit of repentance and faith, of real love for God (see Rom. 2:17-23). Judgment was certain, and our Lord cursed a useless, fruitless tree to try to awaken the people to their need.

So our Lord comes to us—to look below the foliage of Christian profession, of our charities and benevolences, of our correct doctrinal views—to see if there is any fruit of real Christian living. How often He must turn away in sadness because there is none.

This miracle was not only sign of judgment; it was used by our Lord to stimulate the disciples' faith. What they had seen was only an indication of what faith (and note it was their faith) could do. The promise of God to those who, abiding in Christ and with His Word abiding in their heart, ask according to His will, in faith nothing doubting, is without limit.

II. Jesus Stimulates Praise by an Act of Authority (vv. 12-17).

For a second time He drove out from His Father's house those who had made it a place of merchandise, of commercialized thievery. This is a majestic picture. The Son of God and Son of Man steps into the center of this unholy traffic and with mighty, holy indignation (not anger) drives it out. The people who had suffered long because of this religious racket, which paid a nice "cut" to the priests themselves (probably as a "gift" even as such things are managed in our day), were jubilant.

The boys who were in the temple (for such is doubtless the meaning of "children" in v. 15) were so delighted at this magnificent exercise of His divine authority that they broke out into "Hosannas," which, as we have suggested, were really a holy "Hurrah." Well, why not? Hurrah for our Lord! He will not tolerate iniquity even though it hides under the cloak of religion. He is not afraid to speak out and to act against sin and corruption. Possibly the church would reach a good many more men and boys in our day if it would step out in faith to fight the wrong and support the right. Then maybe the young men would shout, "Hurrah for the church," instead of some of the things they are saying.

The chief priests and scribes were "sore displeased" (v. 15) both by the acts of Jesus and the praise of the boys. They would be! And they have a host of descendants who hold places of authority today—yes, even in the church—who would be much displeased if such things were to happen now. But why fear them? Is it not high time that the people of God honored their Lord both by faith and good works, regardless of what men may say? Ought we not to please God rather than men (see Acts 5:29 and Ps. 56:4)?

NEW IDEAS FOR HOME-MAKERS
By RUTH WYETH SPEARS

THE covering of many chintz chairs today is hand sewn to the chair padding. Such covers have trim lines and may be ripped off easily for cleaning or washing. The sketch at the lower left shows how covered cord welting is fastened and stitched to outside pieces of the cover which have been cut on the chair with an accurate seam allowance. When the seam edges have been pressed back the piece is pinned on and sewn with matching heavy duty thread, as at the lower right.

NOTE: Clip and keep this article as this sketch is not in any of the homemaking booklets prepared by Mrs. Spears for our readers. But Book 8 contains directions for making the chair frame as well as 30 other things to make from what the average household has on hand, or from inexpensive new materials. Send your order to:

Prints Combined With Plain Fabrics Make Fashion News

By CHERIE NICHOLAS

THIS season's prints are gorgeous and excitingly beautiful, especially the gay florals which are such flatters every woman adores them. To add to their lure, they are being styled with artistry and resourcefulness which are breathtaking in their novelty and eye-appeal as well as their versatility.

This is especially so in regard to the print-with-plain theme which is interpreted so artfully one could almost believe that a contest is on among designers as to who will create the most ingenious and fascinating effects. The flair for individualizing prints in dramatic ways is strikingly interpreted in the attractive gowns pictured in the above illustration. In these smart New York creations the accent is on bright and brilliant florals matching flower cluster at just the point to give the effect of a corsage either at one shoulder or to accent a girdle effect.

The dress to the left looks toward summer. It is of navy sheer. The designer employs a technique which is receiving wide exploitation this season, namely, that of applying cutout print motifs for accent and excitement. Sprightly white daisies are appliqued on the skirt. Also, white daisies are applied to outline a wide band of bright red faille around the midriff, this girdle effect adding a definite note of style distinction. A spray of the cutout daisies decorates the shoulder.

What promises to be most popular of all skirts during the coming months is the skirt of fabric-conserving type, such as wrap-arounds that eliminate zipper or button fastenings, or the dashing side-saddle skirt that goes back to the days of the side-saddle riding habit. The dress shown to the right in the above illustration belongs to the last category. It features an adroit use of the newest of the new colorful border prints as shown in advance summer collections. The hat is of lacquered navy straw trimmed with grosgrain.

As a guide to buying your print frocks and ensembles it is well worth while to saunter through fabric displays with the thought in mind of discovering what's new in prints. You will find a revelation of new and original ideas, for prints this season have quite a way of their own that differentiates them from the usual order. Some give you a special design for the skirt, perhaps a splash of gay florals on navy or black, with a waist section of lacquered navy straw trimmed with grosgrain.

If you "make your own" this matter of having the color and scheme of design worked out for you in perfect ensemble simplifies home sewing. Then, too, if you plan to buy a print costume ready made, you will select it more intelligently after acquainting yourself in advance with fashion-right prints.

Featured items that give print dresses and ensembles "style" include such interesting details as quilted pockets, cuffs, collars, lapels and borderings. An eye-catching fancy is a single cluster of flowers here and there that sparkles with exquisite hand beading. Boutonnieres made of floral cutouts that look realistic add a beguiling touch, as do also the ruche effects formed of the flowers of the print. And so the story of prints goes on in endless pageantry this season!

Soft Styling

This dress in the original is interesting. It is done in gray, which is a color of definite importance this year. Then, too, it claims distinction in that it adopts the new soft styling with huge dolman sleeves. The material is silk gabardine and being in gray makes it doubly smart. The gored skirt is topped with an interestingly cut hip-length blouse with a white bengaline dicky. Outstanding fashion details are the unique cone-shaped pockets of quilted gray satin, the laced-down-the-front fastening and, especially, the sleeves which look strictly new - this season. Gray, softly draped, as you see it here, is as easy to wear as any other color.

Culotte Meets Need As Cycling Costume

The pendulum of popularity swings back to the ever practical culotte costume. It is declared to be the logical dress to wear in many of the defense activities, for gardening, flying, bowling, tennis, golf and, above all, for bicycling, which has become so very popular.

In fact this return of the culotte is attributed for the most part to the bicycle fad. There's a new culotte that is much in demand because of its practicality. By a simple snap adjustment it can be transformed into an undivided skirt—travel in it, go about on your shopping tours—in fact make it a practical all-purpose outfit.

For the new culottes sturdy cottons are best, especially denim (handsome in the new rust shade), gabardine, and also crinkly seersucker.

There is considerable interest shown in dicky fronts, in pique for tailored outfits and in laces or bright prints for dressier effects. Very lovely are those of finely pin-tucked pastel organdy with frilly cuffs to match.

While white is the first choice for neckwear there is a decided favor expressed for frills and furbelows in pastel tones.

Checked

A widespread vogue is on for checks. Suits in brown or black checks are at the top of the fashion list. These are made in classic tailleur, or they are styled with eton or bolero jackets. Wear with them a pique dicky for a crisp, clean look.

HOW I INTEND TO AID IN NATIONAL DEFENSE

In aiding National Defense I will not only be helping the Government out I will be helping myself also. I will be helping the Government to uphold our freedom, and all the rights and privileges that our people have strived for for more than a century and a half. I will be helping myself in that I will learn to be more conservative, which will be my advantage later on. To do this I must save everything that can in any way be used by the Government such as old razer blades, adhesives, scrap paper, tooth paste tubes, all kinds of metals, etc. I shall not go to the show or other amusements more than once a week.

I have already started a budget. When I begin to work this summer I am going to put defense stamps with one-fifth of my earnings. One-fifth will go to the church and three-fifths will go for clothes, donations, incidentals, etc. Not only by buying bonds and stamps myself will help the Government, but I will encourage others to buy them too.

Another thing I have already started and intend to cultivate is my Victory Garden. Each week in it I will let the present ship and in that way I am sure I can keep 'em mowed down. I am going to raise tomatoes, eggplants, beans, carrots, squash, beets, turnips, and mustard. This would make a good meal for any soldier, would it not?

This will be my contribution to National Defense.

This article was written by Terry Mack Christian, a member of the Junior Class, and is being printed as a good example of practical patriotism.

FRESHMAN FAME

Although Freshmen are traditionally "dumb" the class of '42 has made much headway in outreaching this age-old idea. We made a fairly good start, but this is only a fraction of what we shall do in years to come.

At State Literary Field meet three Freshmen placed, with Walter Dean Vick at second place in Algebra I, Guy Robinson, fourth in Latin I, and Blanton Johnson, eighth in General Science. At the State track meet Louis Barnes placed 4th in the 220 and was on the relay team that placed fourth in the 440. Martha Cullen, pulled down two fifth places in the 75 and 100 yard dashes.

Three Freshmen of great promise on the football team were Billy Harper, Bertie Collins, and Louis Barranco, although the last was forced to drop out on account of injuries.

On the baseball team four Freshmen of promise are Hubert Spears, catcher; Roy W. Collins, pitcher; Billy Harper on first base; and Louis Barranco in left field.

Two Freshmen, George Granberry, and W. T. Eastlow, are in the band which did so well at Jackson.

Julia Marie Guldry, the class wizard of the piano, rated superior in the district and good in the State contest.

And without excessive bragging we may add that all the Freshmen have been important people in our school.

FRESHMEN IN GENERAL

When school opened, the Freshmen wandered over the school building not knowing where to turn next. When they admitted they were lost and asked somebody where to go, they generally ended on the other side of the building.

In Junior High if more than one teacher gave a long assignment, it ended in a tragedy, but while the teachers were breaking us in over here it was a miracle if less than four gave long assignments.

Algebra class was terrible. We would study an equation for hours and all we knew was that  $x$  was the unknown quantity—whatever that is. In English we recited poetry until we left like photographs. From what we hear, the stuff the girls cooked in Home Ec was treason, and after the first day of Latin, it was unanimously decided that the Romans were geniuses to make sense out of that stuff.

And, of, the diplomacy we needed to handle successfully and safely six of eight teachers of different temperaments.

A TRIBUTE TO SENIORS WE SHALL MISS

All the students and teachers will miss Beulah Abel, Sara Abel and Mozie McCalla for their helpfulness in typing; Louise Avent, as president of the Honor Society and for her splendid debating; Mary Lou Cullen, as president of the Girl Reserves and for her good citizenship; James Thomas, for his good citizenship, public speaking, and his contributions in field meet.

We shall miss Anne Duncan's enormous knowledge of history and government; Anna Odum's public speaking; Emmett Barrentine's courting and kodak camera; Pauline Richardson's noise; Dorothy Talbert's speedy typing; Hazel Turner's basketball; Caroline Whitaker's singing, and Leon Provine's sunny smile, and knowledge of physics; Lambert Gammon's football; Benton Keeton's public speaking; Floyd Thelmann's helpfulness; Bedford Thompson, Robert Trussell, Jack Ward, for their football playing will all be missed.

We wish happiness to the two senior brides: Elizabeth Andrews Trusty, and Mildred Moss Gammon.

GRENADA HIGH ENTERTAINED BY VESPER CHOIR

On Thursday morning, May 7, at 10:20, Grenada High School was entertained by the Vesper Choir from the Mississippi Southern College at Hattiesburg. The choir was composed of fifty-eight students dressed in black gowns.

The audience joined the choir in singing the opening number "America." The next three numbers were "My God" and "I," "My Savior," and "Lord, Thy God, Have Mercy."

A cornet solo was then presented by a young man of the choir followed by a violin solo by one of the young ladies.

The concluding numbers were two negro spirituals "Down By the River-Side" and "Roll, Chariot, Roll."

After the closing number the founder and musical director of the choir, Mr. Earl Marsh, Jr., was introduced by Miss Jeffie Windham, who was originally a part of this choir before she began teaching here in Grenada.

The Vesper Choir is one of the pioneer choral organizations to specialize in choral singing in the South. Each year it tours the State of Mississippi and neighboring states presenting programs of Masterpieces of sacred music. It was one of the best that has ever entertained Grenada High School and everyone enjoyed it tremendously.

CHAPEL

The chapel program opened Wednesday morning with the salute to the flag. Billy Theisman suggested that we hold our hands over our hearts during the entire salute as the extended hand resembled the Nazi salute. After the reading of the scripture by Mr. Rundt, the president of the Senior class, James Thomas, made an announcement concerning the play to be held Monday, May 11. In the auditorium, after which a skit from the play was given by Emmett Barrentine, Benton Keeton, and Anne Odum. If the play is as good as the preview, it will be well worth your time and money to attend.

GLEE CLUB PICNIC

Thursday afternoon the Glee Club had their picnic. It was held on Pine Hill. Leonard Trussell furnished all the Coca-Cola and each member brought a lunch. The food was plentiful as well as good and everyone enjoyed it. Maybe we ought to have one more often.

D. O. PICNIC

The D. O. Class had their picnic Thursday night. They had planned to have it at Bledsoe but just as the fire was built it began to rain. Then everyone went to the school cafeteria, where they played games and ate. The food was good, and we think everyone had fun in spite of the rain (at least from what we hear).

Wonder why Milton and Gloria Morris sat out in front of the Community House Friday night at the band party?

GRENADA VS. CHARLESTON

Behind the pitching of "Bet" Thompson the Grenada Bulldogs beat Charleston Indians in a nip-and-tuck ball game Tuesday by the score of 5 to 4. The game was close all the way, and if we hadn't played by Tallahatchie County rules we would have had at least one more score. Up to the eighth inning Charleston led us by one score. But in that inning our boys made two scores on a bunt and two errors. There liked to have been a free-for-all over the last run, but Coach Norworsky CONVINCED the umpire that he was safe. Gums for Charleston and Kettle for Grenada were the hardest hitters.

HOLCOMB METHODIST REVIVAL BEGINS SUNDAY, MAY 17

Our revival will begin at the Methodist Church in Holcomb on Sunday night, May 17. Brother W. L. Robinson, of Grenada, will do the preaching for us, however, he will not be here until the 11:00 o'clock service on Monday. Services will be held twice daily at 11 a. m. and 8:30 p. m.

We urge every person who lives in Holcomb to attend every service, and we invite all in the surrounding community to come. We extend to all a very cordial welcome.

I feel very keenly the need of a revival with world conditions as they are today. How can we afford to continue in our state of lethargy and indifference. May we spend much time in prayer in preparation for the revival? No great revival has ever come without prayer. I am expecting my people to do everything they can for the success of the services. May we give this week to God, and see what He will do for us?

A. W. Bailey, Pastor.

Seen, Heard and Told By The Editor

Churchill made a wonderful speech Sunday. For the first time, he let a note of optimism escape. In England's gloomiest period, he said "We can take it, but at the proper time we can also give it." It looks as if he thinks that "giving time" is about at hand. Personally I had rather hear Churchill speak than any public man on earth.

We urge you to walk about the business section of Grenada about Friday. Look at it. Imprint the picture on your mind. For many months, if not years—or maybe never—will you see it that way again. Soon our streets will be thronged.

Editor Lamar Sledge, of The Messenger, and his wife and growing young son, visited our place Sunday afternoon. Lamar helped us get the GCW started.
